

Mattlidens "survival days" 2010

We wanted to prepare our students for the future and teach them how to react in emergency situations. The last week of school the ninth grade listened to lectures about first aid, extinguishing fires and rescuing drowning people. They also had the opportunity to test all three themselves.

